This free Open Afternoon is an opportunity for new schools and current Thrive schools to see Thrive within a well established setting.

Current brain science shows that for many young people in school, their stress management, emotional regulation and seeking /exploring systems are not yet sufficiently developed for them to access learning. The Thrive Approach has been developed to address these needs. It equips staff to see and understand behaviour as communication and it gives them the tools and techniques to support the emotional and social development needed to access learning.

The session is aimed at Heads/SENCo's and Strategic Leads. It will give you the opportunity to visit a school using Thrive and learn first-hand how the Thrive Approach works in practice.

You will be able to:

- talk to the head teacher about how and why s/he introduced the Thrive Approach
- find out what a Thrive room looks like and see a Thrive session in action
- discuss with Licensed Practitioners what their role involves
- find out how Thrive-Online can be used to screen classes and how the data can be used to monitor the progress of social and emotional development of the pupils
- find out how a Thrive-Online Individual Action plan is created and how age appropriate strategies are selected
- learn how all staff can be involved through a Whole School Approach
- tour the school to see Thrive in action
- get some tips and strategies on how to successfully embed the Approach fully in a school
- learn how the Approach involves parents and how it has been received
- find out how effective Thrive is in improving the emotional resilience of all children
- meet the Thrive Relationship Manager for your area

This session is free and must be booked through the Thrive office.

Bookings limited to two places per setting only.
